

WASHINGTON—Of all of the new Senators who took the oath of office on January 5, 1937, when the present Congress convened, none were eyed with greater interest than two young New England Republicans—Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., of Massachusetts, and H. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire.

Tall, personable and in their thirties, the two men had won their seats by the double feat of trouncing veteran opponents and surviving the devastating Roosevelt landslide. They were the most promising figures appearing on the GOP horizon in many years.

Lodge and Bridges began their Senate careers on even terms. But the fifteen intervening and eventful months have wrought great changes.

Lodge still is as slim, straight and boyishly dapper as he was when he took his seat. Bridges, only a few years his senior, has become fat and overfed, with pudgy jowls hanging over his collar and a taste for big, expensive cigars which he likes to show off to callers.

Lodge, although the grandson of a famous Senator whose name he bears, is unassuming and unaffected. Bridges has developed a pomposity that has made him the laughing stock of his colleagues and the press gallery.

Lodge has made few speeches; and when he has talked has obviously been carefully prepared. Bridges is always sounding off. Next to Utah's loquacious Senator King, Bridges is the most prolix and tiresome speaker in the chamber. "A babbler" was the way a Republican colleague once characterized his droning monotone.

Lodge never makes an important move without experienced advice. This was illustrated in his handling of a secret plan to challenge the price-fixing schedules of the Bituminous Coal Commission. He considered demanding an investigation of the Commission, but instead of bursting into print, he first asked the advice of older Senate heads.

They warned that a straight resolution for a coal probe would get nowhere, since the Administration would pigeonhole it in committee. The wisest strategy, they advised, was to wait until the Coal Commission's appropriation came before the Senate and then open fire. Lodge adopted this shrewd course.

In striking contrast, Bridges stormed into the TVA controversy

ALLEN PLEDGES SUPPORT RIVER FLOOD CONTROL

Mayor George S. Brydia of Prohphetsburg, vice president of the Rock River Flood Control Commission and candidate for the Republican nomination for representative in the Illinois General Assembly from this district, has been very active since the organization of the flood control body in his efforts to bring river conditions to the attention of Federal authorities and to secure action to prevent further recurrences of flood damage in the river valley.

Leaving no stone unturned, he has written to everyone in authority who might be able to aid in the purposes of the commission, and he has received the following encouragement from Congressman Leo A. Allen of the 13th Illinois district:

"I thank you for your letter of March 20th, wherein you requested that I introduce a bill in Congress this week to appropriate $1,500,000 to start work immediately at the mouth of Rock River to dredge and clean out the river and continue until it is cleaned out as far up the stream as Dixon.

"In reply, George, I wish to state that one cannot obtain an appropriation until after the War Department Engineers have made a preliminary examination and survey. Congress must authorize the War Department to make the said survey and examination. The reason for this procedure is this: The Appropriation Committee would not recommend and expenditure until after the War Department Engineers had made the survey and prepared their report stating that such work was necessary, was feasible and the approximate cost of completion.

"A couple of weeks ago Congressman Chester Thompson of the Rock Island District introduced in Congress a bill to authorize the War Department Engineers to make said preliminary survey and examination of the Rock River from the Wisconsin line in Winnebago county, down through my district, and

FDR'S LETTER TO AID FIGHT FOR MEASURE

President Disavows Any Dictatorial Inclinations

Washington, March 31.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's letter disavowing dictatorial inclinations gave administration forces fresh ammunition today at the start of the House battle over government reorganization.

The President's lieutenants already had expressed confidence the House would approve the legislation by Saturday without important changes, but his lengthy statement encouraged them to believe that the margin of victory would be greater than the close Senate vote.

Only a few hours before his letter was given out, the American Federation of Labor had written all House members urging them to require positive congressional approval of any bureau changes which the President desired. In other words, the A. F. of L. would require a special act of Congress before the President's orders could become operative.

At the opening of the House session, Speaker Clegg overruled a parliamentary maneuver to kill the bill without debate. Immediately afterwards the House began consideration of the measure.

No Debate Limitation
Following an unusual procedure for the House, the chamber considered the measure without a limitation on debate. It took up the bill on that basis by a vote of 202 to 142, but the rules committee served notice an effort would be made later to close debate.

Rep. Snell of New York, Republican leader in the House, said the opponents were concentrating primarily against provisions revamping the Civil Service Commission and the general accounting office. The Civil Service section, Snell contended, would let the administration "blow into the service '300,000 party workers for life.' Those men and women, he declared, have been added to the Federal payroll since 1933.

Foes and friends of the reorganization bill termed the President's letter "a perfect fake" and "an admirable statement."

Snell used the "fake" expression when he told reporters the President's letter was "purely an effort to get the front page" and "get people's mind off" the controversial reorganization bill.

Opinion of Senator Barkley
Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic Senate leader, in turning the letter "a very admirable statement," said it was one "the sincerity of which will be con-

Seventh Florida Woman Is Dead From Effects of Cancer Serum
Orlando, Fla., March 31.—(AP)—A seventh woman died today while a coroner's jury assembled medical witnesses in an investigation of a series of deaths which followed injections of a serum in cancer treatments.

Mrs. F. E. Moonett, 63, of Winter Park, Fla., succumbed early today. Six women who had been given injections of the serum died yesterday. Four other persons were in hospitals with symptoms resembling those of tetanus.

Dr. T. A. Neale said the seven dead and the four ill had been given injections at his clinic. The serum came from one bottle. Physicians said one other person may have been treated from this container. As the coroner's jury began an

REMOVAL OF MAYOR URGED IN BELVIDERE

Prospects of Strike Settlement Appear Brighter

Belvidere, Ill., March 31.—(AP)—Carl Baylander, a spokesman for strikers picketing the National Sewing Machine company plant here, said today petitions were being circulated asking the city council to remove Mayor Perry Cratty, who appealed to Governor Horner to declare martial law.

Baylander said 400 signatures had been obtained.

The mayor, who is employed as a foreman in the plant, informed the governor yesterday that the situation was "out of control" and armed men were walking the streets.

The governor replied he saw no need to send national guardsmen until Sheriff Fred Smith had exhausted his efforts to maintain order.

Meanwhile, prospects of settling the strike, which was called on March 14, appeared brighter.

Baylander said last night after a conference between the strike committee and the management that company officials were "more conciliatory and willing to come to terms."

The meeting was arranged by Joseph Vincent of the Illinois Department of Labor.

The strikers agreed to permit firemen to pass through picket lines to rekindle fires in the plant. Insurance underwriters had notified the company they would withdraw protection unless the fires, which control the factory's sprinkler system, were rekindled within 48 hours.

Encounters No Trouble

Sheriff Smith encountered no trouble late yesterday when he passed through picket lines maintained by 200 strikers to procure patterns in keeping with a writ of replevin granted to the Sanitary Scale Co. by the circuit court.

The strike was called by three unions—Machinists, Polishers and Molders—affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. The locals charged the company's president, Raymond F. List, refused to abide by a national labor relations board ruling certifying them as bargaining agencies. The plant employs 800.

A WPA workers strike which has been in progress in Stephenson county since Monday threatened today to spread into Boone county.

A meeting of all WPA workers in Boone county was called for tomorrow afternoon in Belvidere Park to decide whether or not to strike for higher wages.

Five projects under way in this county employ about 150 persons. Spokesmen for the workers said some wanted an increase from 40 cents to 50 cents per hour.

TURN ON CIO PICKETS

Lanao, Wis., March 31.—(AP)—A. F. of L. employees of the Connor Lumber & Land Co. turned today on C. I. O. pickets, driving them down a half-mile route along Main street to C. I. O. headquarters, and then staged an impromptu "victory march" while the mill work whistles sounded unheeded.

In the fourth consecutive day of demonstrations at the plant, A. F. of L. employees for 20 minutes fought their way through the picket lines to enter the grounds, and then at the cry of leaders turned back to drive the pickets off.

Sheriff Jesse Ramsdell's deputies arrested six persons. Clubs and bricks flew freely. At least 10 persons were beaten badly. One, Solomon Droshorn, 50, a lumberjack not a resident of Lanao, required hospital attention.

Witnesses estimated there were about 300 employees and not quite that many pickets in the fight. Some women were in the picket line but none were injured. Three pickets were tossed into a creek. Individual fights attended the half-mile battle to the small C. I. O. hall in the southern part of town. Street battling lasted half an hour, making about an hour altogether.

Twelve men, all C. I. O. sympathizers, were arrested last night, 11 for unlawful assembly in a violent manner and the other for seeking to terrorize workers. All remained in jail today facing trial April 14.

Sheriff Ramsdell had ordered 18 deputies on duty today.

AUTHOR REWARDED

Chicago, March 31.—(AP)—William Maxwell, author of the novel "They Came Like Swallows," pocketed $1,000 today. He received it from the Friends of American Writers, an organization of 400 women formed to encourage American writers.

The 30-year-old prize winner, a native of Lincoln, Ill., is a graduate of the University of Illinois and is employed on the staff of a magazine.

"Shameful"

Chicago, March 31.—(AP)—The Lions Club of suburban Downers Grove wants a copy of the March 28, 1938, Congressional Record placed in the cornerstone of the new post-office building so that future generations might read what it termed the "shameful action" taken by the Senate of the now free United States of America in passing the government reorganization bill.

By a unanimous vote, the club yesterday voted to request Postmistress Dora Cline Whidden for permission to put the Congressional Record and a copy of the United States Constitution in the stone.

FRESH WATER IS RUSHED TO SOUTH PEKIN CITIZENS

Wednesday Tornado Wrecked Public Supply System

Springfield, Ill., March 31.—(AP)—The public health department rushed fresh water in sterilized milk cans and whisky kegs to South Pekin today, where the public water supply system was wrecked by a tornado.

Dr. A. C. Baxter, acting health director, said a staff of sanitary engineers and WPA workers have been assigned to the area to supervise water supplies and waste disposal. A medical officer is in the area to promote vaccinations.

An emergency chlorinator was sent to the area. Dr. Baxter said, for use as soon as the pumping station can resume service. He added that no other water supply or sewage disposal systems in the area were seriously damaged.

Efforts to prevent any outbreak of epidemic diseases were being concentrated in the areas in the direct path of the tornado.

All state relief agencies were under instructions from Governor Horner today to extend all possible aid to sufferers in areas swept by destructive winds late yesterday.

State Police Active

C. W. Klassen, chief engineer of the state division of sanitation, said engineers with water purification equipment had been dispatched to Mt. Sterling, Rushville, Astoria and South Pekin.

State police headquarters rushed 22 men from the Springfield district to Rushville and Timewell, while 26 other policemen from the Peoria district and 12 from Pontiac were sent to South Pekin. Portable radio sets were hurried to Pekin and Rushville and emergency headquarters were set up in the two communities and at Morton.

Miss Isabella Bradford, executive secretary of the Red Cross, said midwestern headquarters at St. Louis would send men into the storm area for survey work as soon as comprehensive reports were received.

State agencies were checking up with local officials to determine the extent of aid necessary.

Urges Legislature To Aid Sufferers

Springfield, Ill., March 31.—(AP)—Ray Edmundson, state president of the United Mine Workers of America, asked Governor Horner today to call a special session of the legislature for increased relief to ameliorate "a distressing situation where men, women and children face starvation."

Edmundson, in a telegram to the governor at Chicago, also asked that a conference be granted George W. Lamb, secretary of the Southern Illinois Miners Relief committee, for a discussion of the question of additional relief allocations in April.

The state highway department sent scores of rescue workers to the devastated areas. Water purification equipment was ordered to some communities.

Tornadoes Hit Five Midwestern States: 32 Lives Their Toll

South Pekin, Ill. is Hardest Hit With Dozen Dead

BULLETIN

Pekin, Ill., March 31.—(AP)—Sheriff Ralph Goar telegraphed Adjutant Gen. Carlos E. Black today asking that a wide area stricken late yesterday by twin tornadoes be placed under martial law.

He requested Black to rush troops here for the "protection of life and property."

The sheriff said sightseers were causing "much trouble."

Meanwhile the death toll was feared to be going higher. There were reports of new deaths—ranging from one to four—in nearby Green Valley, which could not be confirmed immediately. Communication lines to the town were down.

Four persons remained critically injured in a hospital here, and one John Houston, husband of a woman who lost her life in the storm, was believed by physicians to be dying.

An 80-year-old woman, Mrs. Emma Taylor, was reported near death in a Rushville hospital.

Pekin, Ill., March 31.—(AP)—State and Red Cross officials joined local authorities today in starting rehabilitation of an area more than 100 miles long which was struck yesterday by twin tornadoes, leaving at least 12 persons dead, 100 injured and property damage unofficially estimated at $500,000.

The state division of sanitation sent engineers with water purification equipment to four stricken communities and state police headquarters dispatched 60 officers and portable radio sets to the district.

Telephone and telegraphic communication was disrupted, phone calls in and out of Pekin being delayed two hours in some instances.

Mrs. Julia Kennedy, executive secretary of the Red Cross chapter in nearby Peoria, said a crew of disaster workers was due today and would undertake a survey of the damage.

Damage Not Estimated
Damage in three of the stricken towns—Alton, Astoria and Rushville—was placed at $350,000, but the loss at South Pekin, where the storm did its greatest damage and claimed eight lives, was not estimated.

Mayor James G. Draper said he hoped to have an approximation later in the day.

The death toll increased by two at mid-morning when the body of an unidentified man was found in the wreckage of a South Pekin tavern, and another died in a Pekin hospital of injuries suffered when the winds swept up the Illinois river valley after laying waste a small area near Alton, in southwestern Illinois.

Besides those killed at South Pekin, more than 60 injured were given medical treatment by physicians summoned to the railroad community of 800 situated about five miles south of here.

Other Towns Hit

Astoria, Mount Sterling, Deer Creek and Rushville were other towns whipped by tornado winds in central Illinois. The damage at Alton was estimated at $200,000 by Chief of Police Paul Smith. Seven persons were injured there. One man was killed at nearby Venice.

The state highway department sent scores of rescue workers to the devastated areas. Water purification equipment was ordered to some communities.

Storm Notes

Rushville, Ill., March 31.—(AP)—County Clerk Doane G. Trone told his son Dennis, 7, to hurry home when the gale subsided temporarily. But it was only a lull in the storm. High winds sprang up. The boy wrapped his arms around a mailbox and held on, while debris flew through the air around him.

Chetopa, Kas., March 31.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Jackson are in the market for a tornado-proof home.

The Jacksons lost their home in a tornado last year. They built a four-room bungalow.

A twister blew the bungalow away yesterday.

St. Charles, Mo., March 31.—(AP)—Catherine Roedenbeck, 10, knows how it feels to "float" through the air with the greatest of ease.

Clinging to an umbrella, the girl was carried 50 feet by a violent windstorm which swept through here last night. She was unhurt.

South Pekin, Ill., March 31.—(AP)—A sixth-grade reader found today in ruins of the tornado-wrecked grade school was opened to a story titled "Out of the wreck."

Nearby was a dictionary opened to a page on which the word "reduction" was circled by a pencil mark. The school was reduced from three floors to one by the storm.

Gillespie, Ill., March 31.—(AP)—An empty coal car on a siding north of here was caught by the wind and propelled down the main tracks for two miles into a head-on collision with a two-car northbound Illinois Terminal passenger train. R. H. Jones of St. Louis, the motorman, suffered scratches and bruises when he set the brakes and leaped. The train was slightly damaged, but no passengers were injured.

Only a half dozen homes on the east edge of the town escaped severe damage. Two gas pumps served as the only evidence of a filling station on the main street. John Waggoner of East Sepo was believed drowned in flooded East Creek but reappeared after a night's absence due to high water.

Dan Trpan, owner of the Northwestern hotel, said he saw a man blown out of the second story of a house into an adjoining lot and left completely denuded.

The water tower was blown over, leaving the community dependent on canned water sent to the town.

State police and 25 CCC youths patrolled the streets to prevent looting. Special deputies cleared highways for ambulances bearing injured to Peoria and Pekin.

600 Without Shelter
Red Cross officials estimated 600 persons were without shelter at South Pekin. American Legionnaires took over the damaged community store building as headquarters for distribution of food.

The tornado, accompanied by rain and hail, roared into South Pekin about 5 P. M. so suddenly that virtually everyone was caught unawares. Frame structures were crushed like matchboxes. Brick buildings crumbled.

About 250 houses were wrecked. The Chicago & Northwestern railroad roundhouse and depot were reduced to debris. About 150 box cars and passenger coaches were strewn along the right of way.

Corn stalks and grain, borne by the winds from barns in the rural area, were strewn over the streets. Physicians at Pekin said they found oats and wheat kernels deeply imbedded in the wounds of the injured.

Damage at Alton
More than 40 homes and business buildings were unroofed at Alton. Butler Heath said his home was blown to pieces as the 10 members of his family sat

Kansas, Arkansas and Missouri Also Felt Winds

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Five tornado-strafed midwestern states counted 32 persons killed and nearly 250 injured today as unofficial estimates of the damage passed the $1,000,000 mark. Hundreds were homeless.

The twisting storms, laden with hail and torrential rain, struck hardest in Illinois, where at least 12 were known dead. Next hardest hit was southeastern Kansas, where seven, including three children, were killed.

The Kansas storm struck about noon yesterday. It started in northeastern Oklahoma; later knifed into southwestern Missouri. Five were known dead in Missouri storms.

About sundown what apparently was a separate storm twisted across Illinois from the southeast, dipping to earth in the Pekin area.

Another twister lashed at Heber Springs, Ark., killing four persons. Then it swung up through southeastern Missouri, accounting for three of Missouri's dead at Neeleyville. An earlier Arkansas blow had killed a woman at Conway.

Couple Killed
Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Baird, both about 55, were killed when wind demolished their home near Minuturn, Ark., last night.

Columbus, Kas., bore the brunt of the Kansas-Oklahoma-Arkansas-Missouri storm. All seven Kansas known dead were killed there. A strip of 10 blocks wide virtually was leveled. At least 50 buildings were destroyed and 100 persons were injured.

Three-year-old Buddy Palmer died today of injuries he suffered at Columbus.

Sheriff Fred Simkin of Cherokee county said 200 families were homeless. He estimated damage at Columbus at $100,000 but other sources said it would be at least $300,000.

Teachers Save Pupils

Quick work by teachers saved 106 pupils at Highland grade school in Columbus. The building was wrecked. Near Chetopa, Kan., Miss Virginia Sappington led 20 pupils out of her rural school and ordered the lot lie in a ditch. The building was heavily damaged.

FDR DENIES HE HAS ANY DESIRE TO BE DICTATOR

Takes Cognizance of Attacks on Pet Reorganization Measure

Warm Springs, Ga., March 31.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, charging organized opponents of his government reorganization program had "planted bogies under every bed," asserted in a letter made public today he had "no inclination to be a dictator."

The letter, addressed to an unnamed friend under date March 29, urged approval of the measure "in its present form" and replied to charges the legislation would make him a dictator by asserting:

"As you well know, I am as much opposed to an American dictatorship as you are, for three simple reasons:

"(a) I have no inclination to be a dictator.

"(b) I have none of the qualifications which would make me a successful dictator.

"(c) I have too much historical background and too much knowledge of existing dictatorships to make me desire any form of dictatorship for a democracy like the United States of America."

Made Public Yesterday

The letter was made public yesterday by Secretary Marvin McIntyre shortly before 1 a. m. (CST). There was no explanation for the late release except that the President had made up his mind to issue it before midnight and it required almost two hours to prepare it for the press.

The President made his decision while resting from a 120-mile motor-trip to and from Fort Benning late yesterday to inspect the troops and equipment of the noted infantry post. Later today he planned to lunch with officers at the marine camp here and then pay a visit to a resettlement project in Pine Mountain valley.

The name of the President's correspondent regarding reorganization was withheld because McIntyre said in a prefatory statement "he did not write for publicity purposes."

The letter was dated the same day the President asserted at a press conference that Senate passage of the reorganization bill proved that body cannot be purchased by organized telegrams based on direct misrepresentation.

"Deliberate Creation"

In the communication today he recalled that when he proposed the legislation more than a year ago all parties and factions agreed on the need of such a measure, but that a year later "a carefully manufactured partition and political opposition to any reorganization had created a political issue—created it deliberately out of the whole cloth."

As examples of the "bogies" he contended had been planted by the opposition he said it had been charged that the army engineer corps was to be abolished "in spite of the fact" that Congress alone could determine who will do river and harbor work, and that the forestry service was to be "hamstrung—hamstrung I suppose by the best friend forestry ever had in the United States."

He mentioned other like charges and added: "I cite these merely as examples of a score of equally silly nightmares conjured up at the instigation either of those who would restore the government to those who owned it between 1921 and 1933, or those who for one reason or another seek deliberately to wreck the present administration of the government of the United States."

Referring to the bill's provision making executive orders on bureau shifting subject to disapproval by congressional "joint" resolution within 60 days, the President said if such a resolution were passed he would "in the overwhelming majority of cases go along with carefully considered congressional action." He added:

"I can think of no cases where the President would not gladly yield to a clear expression of congressional opinion."

Questionable Proposal

In giving two " cogent " reasons why the bill should be passed in the present form, he said a "concurrent" resolution turning down presidential orders—which some opponents have proposed—was questionable constitutionality because it was only an expression of congressional "sentiment" and could not repeal executive action taken in pursuance of law.

A "joint" resolution must be approved or rejected by the President, whereas a "concurrent" resolution does not go to him for action. Some opponents favor the "concurrent" form to prevent the possibility of a veto, thus forcing Congress to reject an executive order by a two-thirds vote.

In stating his second reason, the President referred to the "remote possibility" of a veto, adding: "I repeat that I visualize no such possibility between now and 1940 when the authority given is to end."

"Thus," his letter concluded, "you will see that charges of dictatorship are made out of the whole cloth—even if I wanted to be a dictator, which, heavens knows, I do not."

The President said there were two methods of effecting a business-like reorganization—by "complex and detailed legislation by the Congress" or by the Chief Executive

School Will Hold Open House Tomorrow Night

Friday night, April 1 marks the date of the second annual visiting night at the Polo community high school. The student council sponsors the project and last year the large attendance showed the great enthusiasm parents, as well as people who have no children, have for the project, all are cordially invited to attend at 7:30 o'clock. The people are asked to gather at the high school gymnasium. For 45 minutes they will be shown work that is being done by the boys and girls' physical education departments. This period will close with several selections from the musical organizations of the school. A class schedule will be given all adults and they may visit the classes where they may have boys or girls and appreciate the normal school day that a student follows.

Parents will be responsible for finding their way about the building and getting to the proper classroom before the tardy bell rings. The students trust that parents will arrive at class rooms on time so that they will not have to go to the office for excuses for tardiness. Each class will be eight minutes in length.

When the parents arrive in the doing it subject to disapproval by Congress.

He said he would have been willing to go along with the first method, but attempts by Congress to reorganize in the past had failed many times and "every responsible member of the Senate or the House is in agreement that detailed reorganization by the Congress is a practical impossibility." classroom, the regular teacher of that class will have charge of the activity. Following this program, which will take about one hour, refreshments will be served at the cafeteria. After the refreshments, students will continue the tour about the building, accompanying their guests.

HONORED AT PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Deets, recently married, were honored at a shower at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Scholl Tuesday night. The Young People's Sunday school class of the East Jordan United Brethren church—35 in number—were present to enjoy the evening. The class presented Mr. and Mrs. Deets with a magazine rack and to Mrs. Deets a subscription to the "Farmer's Wife" and to Mr. Deets a subscription to the "Country Gentleman." Refreshments were served. Games and a short business session closed a very enjoyable evening.

PHILATHEA CLASS

A fascinating pastime with

Albert Edward Wiggam, S. Sc. Author of "THE MARKS OF A CLEAR MIND"

"The keenest anguish known to human nature is the pain of a new idea." (Bagehot). We hope this column brings you pain.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. No danger. They have cut off lamb and dog tails for centuries, yet these animals are born with as long tails as ever. Same with cutting the human hair and shearing sheep. You shave your face, not your germ cells. In this sense, what the parents do—their "acquired characters"—are not inherited by the children, because the children are born from the parents' germ cells, not from their body cells.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. All vocational counselors agree it is about the biggest piece of bosh ever concocted. It gives young people false ideas of success and often ruins their lives with fears and inferiorities when they do not find any stars lying around loose to hitch their wagons to. Stars are few and far between, and frightfully far away. Every one should study his own school record, work record, social record, secure vocational tests and counsel if possible, then seek the jobs that seem within his abilities. Next, grab the first job available and hang on for dear life. If a star comes by, thumb your nose at it and go on past it to real job satisfaction. That is the only success worth while.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. No, it is because it is considered effeminate. As one writer says, a man nowadays would rather be convicted of forgery than of using per-

BITTER FIGHTS RAGING IN SOME LOCAL CONTESTS

Several Counterparts of Lucas-Igoe Battle in Downstate Counties

Springfield, Ill., Mar. 31—(AP)—The Igoe-Lucas Democratic senatorial battle has its localized counterpart in some downstate areas.

There candidates for nomination to the state Senate are involved in the April 12 primary skirmishes where anti-administration forces are attempting to beat some of the candidates who pledge allegiance to Governor Horner.

Unless unexpected upsets occur in November, the next state Senate again will be Democratic. For one thing, the present Democratic majority is heavy, 33 to 18 against the Republicans. For another, 16 of the 28 seats being filled this year are in the Chicago stronghold of the Kelly-Nash city hall organization.

Chicago Senators dominated the Senate during the 1937 session, which saw several deadlocks with the Horner-controlled House of Representatives.

In seven of the Cook county districts, Horner men are attempting to eliminate the city hall candidates at the primary. Facing opposition are such key figures as Harold G. Ward, legislative spokesman for Mayor Kelly, and George M. Maypole, friend and protégé of Patrick A. Nash.

One of the downstate fights on the Democratic side involves Nicholas L. Hubbard of Mt. Pulaski, a House member who is running for the vacancy left by the death of Louis O. Williams of Clinton. Like Williams, Hubbard is a Horner man. In the primary, the supporters of Michael L. Igoe's candidacy for the national Senate are backing J. J. (Jess) Hill, Decatur auctioneer.

Robert M. Harper of East Moline is another Democrat with primary opposition. Upon the death of Williams, Harper last year became leader of the small band of Horner men in the upper House. Now he has two opponents, one of them being former Mayor John A. Bengston of Rock Island.

The factional fight doesn't occur in all of the senatorial primaries, which are being held this year in the 26-odd numbered districts and in two others to fill vacancies. Five Democrats and 13 Republicans are being nominated without primary contests.

Attempting a Republican comeback is Arthur J. Bidwill of River Forest, who was unseated from the Senate without a recount in 1935. Before Bidwill can seek November revenge, however, he is opposed by Rep. Frank E. Foster of Harvey.

One of the banner Democratic battles downstate involves Senator Louis J. Menges, East St. Louis, chairman of the legislative commission investigating the trucking industry, and Ben Emge of Belleville, who has had one term in the House.

STORIES IN STAMPS

Second Highest Peak in North America

RISE near the Gulf coast of Mexico and running down nearly to Vera Cruz is a lofty range of mountains, really a continuation of the eastern belt of the Rockies.

And topping this range, southwest of Mexico City, are three mighty but dormant volcanoes: Popocatepetl, 17,888 feet; Ixtaccihuatl, 17,343, and Orizaba, 18,209 feet in altitude. The Aztecs used to call Orizaba "star mountain" or Citlaltepetl because of its extreme height. And certainly they were not far wrong for the mountain is the highest in all Mexico and the second highest in North America. Its upper timber line is about 13,500 feet above sea-level and explorers found patches of apparently permanent snow at an elevation of 14,400 feet on its southeast side in 1902.

The first ascent of Mt. Orizaba was made by the Reynolds and Maynard expedition in 1848. Its last eruptive period was 1545-66 and the volcano is now generally considered to be extinct. Nevertheless it grows as a national favorite in Mexico and does command magnificent scenery. Portrayed occasionally on Mexican postage stamps, Mt. Orizaba is shown below on a 1934 airmail stamp. Its two massive neighbors are shown on an issue of the same year.

Demonstrators Want the Governor To Take Quick Action

Chicago, March 31—(AP)—Illinois workers alliance demonstrators, bearing placards asking Governor Horner to call a special legislative session to vote more relief money, paraded around the loop hotel headquarters of the Corner-Courtney-Lucas-Jarecki Democratic organization Wednesday.

The signs carried by the men and women demonstrators asked the governor to "end the relief crisis now," to "give us a hearing" and others reading: "We demand a special session immediately." Gilbert Lang of Washington, D. C., organizer for the alliance, said the demonstration would be continued several hours and that a committee would attempt to present the "demands" to Governor Horner.

Lang said the alliance was asking specifically that the state allocate $5,000,000 of sales tax funds to relief monthly instead of $3,000,000 as at present.

In double file the marchers paraded in front of the two entrances of the Sherman hotel, where all the Horner organization and all candidates on the administration ticket have their offices. Passers by paused to stare and read the placards. Lang estimated 500 participated in the demonstration.

The governor, in Chicago for the last two weeks of the April 12 primary election campaign, remained in his own private offices in another hotel during the demonstration and made no comment.

Last week at Springfield he received a labor non-partisan league delegation with a similar request, and informed members he would "study" the special session proposal.

We have been told that the survey should include all of this territory because the Rock River has been overflowing its banks from Wisconsin to Rock Island.

"Today, Mr. Thompson informed me that his bill would be reported favorably by the Flood Committee and some action would be taken this session. In the event that the authorization is allowed, the War Department Engineers will then make the survey and make its report, favorably or unfavorably to Congress. Then if favorable, the next step will be to obtain the actual appropriation.

SOME MOUNTAIN MEN FIND A WAY OUT

This is a little piece about a little mountain mining community in Tennessee called Whitwell.

Whitwell is having what looks like a boom in comparison with what it was recently having . . . something it would have been glad to give away.

This is also a piece about a community experiment
... don't run away . . . in really thoroughgoing cooperation. Stick around. This editorial has no isms up its sleeves anywhere.

Whitwell is almost entirely dependent on the health of its coal-mining industry for the preservation of its own well-being as a community of some 1500 souls. The coal-mining industry of Whitwell, up to a while ago, had been enduring a kind of living death, over a period of several months. Nobody did anything about it.

Then the miners got tired of sitting around cracking their knuckles, watching an average of four gondola-loads of coal move out of town a day, and wondering what they could do about the vacuum in their stomachs.
They talked it over, and then they went to the town's leading merchants.

"We have a railroad in good working order here," they said in effect. "The railroad burns coal. Some of you boys get your goods delivered to you by truck. We don't dig gasoline, we dig coal. Haul by rail, and we'll buy from you. If you don't haul by rail, we don't buy."

The merchants didn't yell murder, they talked it over with the jobbers and wholesalers. The jobbers and wholesalers didn't yell murder, they got in touch with the railroad. The outcome was that the railroad made an allowance of a few cents a hundred, the jobbers and wholesalers granted the merchants a 2 per cent discount to allow for a difference in expense, and Whitwell's car-loadings of coal started up.

Between 20 and 25 cars of coal a day were being hailed at the latest report. Whitwell's miners were getting 10 shifts on a three-day-per-week basis, instead of the two shifts a week they had formerly had.

"Why didn't we think of it before," the chairman of the merchants' committee exclaimed.

The answer is that for some reason most of us aren't aware of our own particular problems as parts of a larger problem till all the separate elements of that larger problem come to an impasse together.

Then . . . finally . . . the citizenry starts knocking at one another's doors.

THE RIGHT TO LOVE

The 57-year-old New York high school teacher accused of writing mash notes to a girl student makes a weak defense when he comes back with the question:
"Haven't I got a right to love?"

Suspended by the school board, the teacher claims now an infringement upon his civil rights to regulate his own conduct outside of school hours.

Well, if the teacher were a young and handsome football coach such conduct might be excused and even justified. But in this case the teacher probably will find few indignant romanticists rushing to his defense.

Civil rights are fine things and just about everybody is in favor of them. But how are the kids going to learn any mathematics and foreign languages when the teacher is busy composing messages of love to one of their number?

THE ALBERT EINSTEINS

"An Aryan street cleaner is dearer to us than the Jew Albert Einstein." That is how Adolf Hitler admittedly looks at human values.

But the average American takes a different view, and so the government's proposal that 29 nations offer havens for refugees from Germany and Austria gets his enthusiastic approval.

The wave of suicides in Vienna dramatizes the plight of the Jews in Nazified Austria. With position, dignity and freedom gone, many men of great stature in such fields as medicine and the arts have simply believed life not worth living.

America already has profited by the adoption of such German Jews as Albert Einstein. Men of his caliber —regardless of their race—are dear to Americans.

The United States can use a great many more Albert Einsteins.

ROSY OUTLOOK—MAYBE

It looks like a joyful 1943, if the Columbia University seniors have any basis for their expectations. The average senior at that school, according to a comprehensive poll, believes that in 1943 he will be drawing down a $5000 salary.

Student opinion at any large university is likely to reflect student opinion in general. With such an optimistic spirit abroad in the land, how can the great day fail to come?

Or maybe it would be better to look at another finding of the poll. The favorite course of the average senior is Sociology. Other college polls have disclosed the same preference. A running-mate in the popularity races has been Economics. Doesn't it seem that things may be looking up a little in the old academic bean?

Few of the boys who involve themselves in the study of sociology and economics are going to become sociologists and economists. That's not the point. The point is that they're not going to be looking at life from the outside. They're going to be equipped as a generation to wrestle with the fundamental and pressing realities of the national life. They're going to be more likely to "See things steadily and see them whole."

Maybe, even, they'll have $5000 jobs.

Dissention

Split in Democratic Forces in Congress is Very Marked

Washington, March 31—(AP)—
The spectacle of dissenting Democrats working with Republicans against the government reorganization bill is providing new evidence that Democratic congressional ranks are still split a year after the supreme court battle.

The roster of Democratic legislators opposing the administration's views, however, has not been entirely the same in both instances.

About one-third of the Senate's 77 Democrats voted against the reorganization bill, whereas the number opposing the Roosevelt court bill was much greater. Of the 27 Democrats who favored returning the reorganization measure to committee, eight are up for re-election in November.

Senator Brown (D-Mich) referred to the party rift Monday, telling the Senate that the "lesson" of the court battle "seems at times to have been lost on our leadership."
He was opposing the reorganization bill, which he said "comes to divide us again."

In the House, too, Democrats are far from united on the reorganization program, although administration forces declare they have a majority. Rep. O'Connor (D-N.Y.), who stands high in House councils because he is chairman of the rules committee, has suggested the bill could well be pigeonholed.

As in the court fight, both Democratic and Republican foes of the reorganization bill have contended the legislation would give the President dictatorial powers. Supporters have disputed this assertion.

The technique of the opposition, however, has differed somewhat in the two battles. Democrats took the lead against the court bill. They met their Republican colleagues in private, and the Republicans let them do virtually all the talking in Congress and at public meetings.

In the Senate debate on reorganization, the co-operation was open.
Republicans as well as Democrats spoke against the bill, and helped one another by asking questions designed to emphasize arguments more clearly.

her, and said unto her, Weep not.

It is no accident that the church in this last week before Passover takes us back to two of our Lord's greatest miracles: the raising from the dead of the young man of Nain, and of Lazarus. We are reminded that though He Himself must pass through the grave and gate of death, it is but for a moment. For He is a life itself, the author and giver of life, and He cannot be held by death.

He stood that day at Nain in all the beauty and glory of His own manhood beside this other young man, cut off in the flower of his age. And we notice—how strange it seems!—that before He works the miracle, He says to the desolate mother, "Weep not."

This is still His message to all mourners: it is still His voice that takes away the bitterness of sorrow, and reminds us that we and all those we have loved and lost are in His Holy keeping. Only He can say "Weep not" in such a way that it is not mockery but consolation, sinking deep into our hearts.
"I have the keys of death and of the unseen."

17,194 NEW STATE LAWS

WERE PASSED LAST YEAR
Chicago—(AP)—Legislatures were reported by the Council of State Governments to have added 17,194 new laws to the statute books in 1937.

North Carolina, where the governor has no veto power, headed the list with 1163 laws enacted; Tennessee added 1141; Connecticut
1054; California 933 and New York 827.

These were weeded from more than 54,500 bills introduced in both houses of 43 states. New York legislators introduced the greatest number 4678; California 4092; Minnesota 3307 and Tennessee 3068.

Governor Merriam of California vetoed the greatest number of bills, 423, nearly twice as many as Governor Lehman of New York vetoed.
Governor Stanford of Arizona approved all the 79 bills passed by his legislature.

The council estimated that state legislatures cost each family in the United States 35 cents a year.

CAVALRY UNITS PLAN WAR-TIME TEST IN APRIL

Mounted Cavalry Has Precedence Over the Tanks Yet

Washington, Mar. 30—(AP)— Cavalry maneuvers in Texas next month will test under wartime conditions the feasibility of supplying troops from the air.

Isolated units operating near the Mexican border will receive food for both men and horses from bundles dropped by parachute, war department officials said.

Italy used this method extensively in its Ethiopian campaign, and Japan has employed it in China.
In this country, it has been confined to peacetime emergencies such as last year's Ohio valley flood.

Undertaking to "streamline" its cavalry organization, the army already has tentatively marked the peak mile for the discard.

In the cavalry maneuvers from April 20 to May 16, the pack train will be displaced by motor trucks and airplanes. Horses, however, will be as numerous as ever.

General Malin Craig, chief staff, told Congress recently that despite the development of tanks and other mechanized weapons, mounted troops had a secure place in the American military strategy.

War-Time Strength

The "streamlined" infantry division, tested in Texas last year, will have a wartime strength of 13-500 men instead of 22,070. The army now is proposing to decrease the size of the cavalry division from 12,000 to about 6,000. Greater speed and fire power are the objectives.

The cavalry division would have a dozen each of turried armored cars or tanks, and less-heavily armored reconnaissance cars, but officials said the army has no intention of going to extremes of mechanization as in Great Britain and other countries.

Preliminary phases of the cavalry maneuvers started March 16 in a section of the southwest that centuries ago saw the march of the Spanish conquistadores.

Regiments headed from Fort Bliss at El Paso and Fort Clark, near San Antonio, Texas, for a rendezvous at Balmorhea, Reeves county, for four weeks of intensive operations.

Further tests of the new cavalry organizations are contemplated in the Third Army maneuvers in August.

TOY FACTORY IN CHINA

PLANNED BY JAPANESE
Peking, North China—(AP)—The brightly colored Japanese toys sold all over the world may soon be made in China of Chinese cotton.

A celluloid company is rushing plans to complete a million dollar factory in Tientsin, North China port, which will extrude cellulose from the cotton raised in this country.

This cotton is short and coarse, unfit for most textile purposes but good for manufacturing explosives, rayon, celluloid and other cellulose products.

The new factory is expected to be completed by next autumn.

like a berserk bull in a china closet.

He filled the air with boisterous intimations of corruption and mismanagement, particularly making a terrific ado over an alleged jackass that the TVA had bought for $2,500. The TVA supporters promptly threw Bridges for a loss by revealing that he had confused the jackass with a hoisting jack. The animal had cost $290, was sold for a profit of $60.

The investigation of TVA is being voted despite Bridges' rather than because of him, and chief result of his publicity-seeking capers has been to exclude himself from any possibility of a place on the investigating committee. For a man whose sole objective is to fanfare his own name, this is indeed a bitter pill.

For Bridges is deeply afflicted with presidentialitis. His eyes have a far-off, glassy stare when the year 1940 is mentioned—which doesn't help his standing with Senator Arthur Vandenberg, who feels he has a vested claim on the 1940 Republican nomination.

Lodge also has presidential ambitions. But he is not shouting them from the house-tops. He is proceeding quietly and modestly, making friends and building up goodwill.

Although still a rookie, Lodge is one of the most popular and respected men in the Senate. Bridges, on the other hand, is running neck and neck with West Virginia's buck-toothed Rush Holt for the title of "most unpopular."

Roosevelt's Breakfast Rolls

When the President departed for Warm Springs last week, he left behind a surplus supply of Danish twisted buns.

This is the President's favorite breakfast bread, and the White House has a standing order with Taylor's bakery in Washington for the daily delivery of twisted buns.
But when the President left the other day, someone forgot to cancel the order, and there were Danish buns to spare.

They are large, flat buns made of long strips of Danish pastry wound into circular shapes and sprinkled with cinnamon and sugar. Each bun is about four inches across. Price, 40 cents a dozen.

Another delicacy which the President orders constantly is nut butter crisp. This is a flat candy made by coating a brittle base with chocolate and sprinkling chopped nuts on top and bottom. It is a very rich candy and he buys it for 65 cents a pound.

Note—Baker Taylor has a substantial White House trade but doesn't want to be interviewed about it. "It's a matter of principle," he says, "not to talk about what I make for the President."

The woman examined his long

Then she paused for a moment, but Hopkins made no comment.
"Yes," she resumed, "I would say

ON HIS CONSCIENCE

Bradford, Pa.—(AP)—A childhood prank of 48 years ago weighed heavily on the conscience of an Ocean, N. Y. man.

He wrote Mayor Hugh J. Ryan a letter, relating the "way back in 1890" he visited the old fairgrounds at South Bradford. But instead of paying an admittance fee, he crawled under the fence.

The thought of the act had disturbed him all these years he wrote, and now he would like to know to whom he could pay the fee.

Home Bureau's Show Marked by Variety

A complete variety of entertainment, including everything from acrobatic dancing to black face skits, featured the first night of the Amateur Night of America which drew a capacity crowd to the opera house at Amboy last night.

The acts, sponsored by the Lee County Home Bureau and directed by Miss Wilda R. Weaver of Chicago, afforded a full evening of entertainment in which some 75 persons took part. Certain of the acts showed unmistakable indications of real talent, proving that Lee county and its vicinity harbors entertainers of real merit.

Contestants from a wide area were attracted to the program and included entertainers from Amboy, Dixon, Ashton, Mendota, Lee Center, Ohio, Walnut, Walton, Sublette, Lamotte, Harmon and West Brooklyn.

Many of the acts were so well received by the audience that encores were demanded.

In recruiting all the contestants into one well-organized show is a credit to the Home Bureau members, Home Adviser Elizabeth Coleman and the director. Their efforts were rewarded by the enthusiasm of the large audience. O. W. Funkhouser, principal of the Amboy township high school, acted last night as master of ceremonies.

Tonight the final presentation will be given with all new contestants and completely new acts. Among those who took part in last night's show were: Lester Kiefer, Charles Bone, the Weaver Sisters, The Melodettes, Clinton Ortiguesen, Mildred Donnelly, Richard Stevens, Carol King, pupils of District school 40 of Walton, Rose Mary Faivre, June Rose Kerley, Theresa Glaser, Helen and Wanda Smith, Ida Mae Kerley, Harry and Helen Lyle, Reuben J. and Mathias D. Claim Reputation Of Townsend Hurt

Chicago, March 31—(AP)—Twenty-four men and women were accused of injuring the reputation of Dr. Francis E. Townsend and other members of his old age pension movement in a $27,000,000 damage suit on file in federal court today.

The action was brought by Huston H. Harris of Denver, and other supporters of the Townsend plan. The suit asked a total of $15,000,000 actual damages from all defendants and $500,000 punitive damages from each of them.

The bill accused Robert E. Clements of Los Angeles, a defendant and former officer of the movement of originating a plan to "wreck" the pension organization in 1936.

Among the defendants was Scott W. Lucas of Illinois and several former associates of Townsend.

WARSHIPS HUNT 6 NAVAL AIRMEN LOST OFF OAHU

Honolulu, March 31.—(AP)—Sixty-five American warships and 240 fighting planes were ordered into an intensified search at dawn today for six naval airmen who vanished during mimic warfare which already had cost five lives.

No trace of the plane was found during a night-long search.

Naval officers still held hope the six aboard would be found alive.

Five men were killed yesterday when their plane crashed off Wai-anae, Oahu island, in the third major fleet air tragedy of the year. Two others of the crew escaped.

Bodies of two of the victims were recovered. One was identified as Lieut. L. O. Crane of Nashville, Tenn., in command of the plane. The other body was not identified.

In previous tragedies during 1938 maneuvers, seven men were lost when a PBY patrol bomber vanished at sea and 11 were killed February 2 when two patrol bombers collided in squally weather in night operations off southern California.

The flying boat which vanished yesterday was identified as 7VP18 under command of Lieut. Charles Singer.

Members of his crew were: Aviation Cadet R. H. Rarobina; P. B. Pancoast, aviation machinist mate, first class; J. A. Bingham, aviation machinist mate, first class; C. T. Williamson, radioman, third class.

U. S. Signifies Its Intention To Build Superdreadnaughts

Washington, March 31.—(AP)—The United States formally notified Great Britain and France today of this country's intention to build battleships bigger than 35,000 tons.

Secretary Hull sent notes to this effect to the British and French embassies and the Canadian legation.

The text of the notes will be made public tomorrow.

The United States expects a British note of the same character during the day.

A French note also is awaited but this, an informed source said, will state France's intention to abide by the 35,000 ton limit.

The United States note sets forth that a power outside the London treaty—Japan—had raised the presumption, by failure to answer the February note of this government, that it was building or intends to build battleships larger than 35,000 tons.

Japan hopes to obtain American and British capital to help her develop the newly conquered areas in China, Japanese economists and officials say.

Getting Hot

Oratory in Democratic Primary Campaign Is Becoming Torrid

Chicago, March 31.—(AP)—Oratorical heat reached a new high for the primary campaign today on the "boss rule" issue and on conflicting claims of the Democratic factions with respect to union labor's support.

In the face of attacks by Governor Horner and Congressman Scott W. Lucas on Mayor Edward J. Kelly and P. A. Nash, the Chicago Democratic chieftains, Michael L. Igoe propounded this question to Lucas, his opponent for the senatorial nomination:

"In the improbable event of your nomination will you refuse in the November election the support of the 4,653 precinct committeemen constituting the regular Democratic organization of Cook county and their elected leaders?"

Igoe put the question at three suburban rallies last night, while Lucas and Horner teamed up again to denounce Kelly and Nash at three mass meetings in Chicago.

"We the people of Illinois," said Lucas, "are going to rise in our might on April 12 and tell the Kelly-Nash machine that we are not going to surrender our heritage—the sanctity of the ballot box. We'll tell it to the bosses with an avalanche of votes."

Lucas read to his audiences the letter in which President William Green of the American Federation of Labor approved Lucas' voting record in congress on labor legislation.

Igoe in a radio address accused Lucas of opposing six measures favored in congress by Labor's non-partisan League, which, together with the Illinois State Federation of Labor executive board, has endorsed Igoe.

At the mass meetings he addressed, Igoe lashed Lucas for "making a rancorous, bitter primary battle." Then he referred to his question to Lucas about future Kelly-Nash support and suggested he make his answer to the down-state voters. Igoe added:

"You need not direct the answer to me; I am well aware that you plan to follow the precedent set by your principal supporter, the good governor who welcomed the tender of support from these same 4,653 precinct committeemen in 1936 after waging the same sort of rancorous, bitter primary battle you are now bent on making."

An Illinois Workers' Alliance demonstration for "more relief," at the hotel headquarters of the Horner-Lucas organization, ended uneventfully late yesterday. Another phase of the campaign—State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney's vote fraud investigation—proceeded with a statement by Chief Investigator Eugene O'Connor that 350 additional false registrations were uncovered at hotels and at addresses where searchers found only vacant lots.

Albert J. Horan, municipal court bailiff allied with Horner, was ordered by judges of the court in a special meeting to submit his reasons for dismissing "between 30 and 40" deputy bailiffs.

MEMPHIS WINNER SAFETY CONTEST COUNCIL STATES

Chicago, March 31.—(AP)—Memphis, Tenn., was ranked today by the National Safety Council as the American city which did most to promote safety in 1937.

It tied with 1,100 other cities to win the grand prize in the national traffic safety contest.

The safety council announced Massachusetts won the grand prize for states, 42 of which completed.

Memphis' traffic toll in 1937 represented a 31.9 per cent reduction from that of the previous year. There were 34 traffic deaths in 1937, compared with 50 in 1936 and an average of 48 for three years preceding 1937.

Massachusetts recorded 781 traffic deaths in 1937, a reduction of 35 from the 1936 toll.

Milwaukee won its first place among cities of 50,000 or more population, with Boston second.

50,000 to 100,000—tier for first, Beaumont, Tex., and Sacramento, Calif.; third, Decatur, Ill.; honorable mention, Oak Park, Ill.; Rockford, Ill.; Phoenix, Ariz.; Topeka, Kan.; Hoboken, N. J.; Bayonne, N. J.

25,000 to 50,000—Won by Everett, Wash.; second, Greenwich, Conn.; third, Great Falls, Mont.; honorable mention, Dubuque, Ia.; Kingston, N. Y.; Lynchburg, Va.; Fond du Lac, Wis.; Green Bay, Wis.; Waukegan, Ill.; Quincy, Ill.; and Moline, Ill.

Negro Faces Jail For Filing False Affidavit In Court

Springfield, Ill., March 31.—(AP)—Richard Morris, Brooklyn, Ill. Negro, faced a one-year jail term today for contempt of court in connection with bankruptcy proceedings before Federal Judge Charles G. Briggie.

Morris was sentenced yesterday after Judge Briggie reopened the bankruptcy case when evidence was presented in the attempt to show that Morris had filed a false affidavit claiming his home on the ground he was married. Evidence showed Morris was divorced at the time. The court ordered the home reclaimed for the benefit of creditors.

At the same time Judge Briggie took under advisement the hearing on his citation of Morris' attorney, Edward L. Maher of Granite City, to show cause why he should not be barred from practice in the southern district.

Maher allegedly handled Morris' divorce and bankruptcy cases.

LOUIS RISKS CROWN AGAIN; FOE IS BOLD

Thomas Win Would Be Biggest April Fool Joke

Chicago, March 31—(AP)—Joe Louis is ready to toss brown bombs on tough Harry Thomas' chin in the Chicago Stadium tomorrow night.

The world's heavyweight champion's crown will be at stake in the 15-round battle, and, although it will be April Fools' Day, nobody with the exception of Thomas and his relatives expects the blond from Eagle Bend, Minn., to pull one of the biggest April Fools' jokes of all times by knocking the title-holder off the throne.

Louis regards the bout as a tune-up for his championship contest with Max Schmeling set for June 22. He says he will take no chances with the hard-punching, but wild-swinging Thomas and will go out to win in four punches if possible. He does not think Thomas will last four rounds.

Never Knocked Cold

Thomas, boasting he has never been knocked cold, intends to make the most of his first, and probably only, shot at the heavyweight championship. Courageous beyond question and always an optimist, Thomas said today that his body attack would bend Louis and take the fire out of the Negro's punches. His heavy bruising punches, he figures, give him a long shot chance, as he says the champion does not recover quickly from a stunning blow.

Louis is determined to finish Thomas in a shorter time than Schmeling required to stop him. He realizes that he will have to batter Thomas into a state of helplessness, so that he cannot come off the swing and keep swinging, as the young man did against the German. Schmeling required eight rounds to finish Thomas, who was still on his feet and protesting when the bout was stopped.

Louis was a serious champion when he finished his training yesterday with six rounds of boxing. He gave the impression he would take no chances.

The champion finished weighing 200½ pounds. He expects to enter the ring at an even 200, with the challenger scaling 196.

Seek Federal Farm Laboratory for U. of I. at Champaign

Washington, March 31—(AP)—The University of Illinois urged its state's congressional delegation today to ask that Urbana be the location for one of four regional experimental laboratories authorized under the new farm bill.

President A. C. Willard, saying he had the backing of university trustees, wrote Illinois congressmen and Senators that outstanding work of the agriculture college experiment station at Urbana should win it consideration in locating the laboratories.

The bill authorizes the secretary of agriculture to determine locations for the laboratories, designed to further experiments in the chemical use of farm products.

Bits of Gossip of Sports Picked Up By AP Writer

By EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, March 31—(AP)—Henry Armstrong openly predicts he'll be wearing three ring crowns within a year. . . . There's nobody in sight to take his featherweight title; he thinks he'll take Barney Ross in May and he'll bet some of his money he will take the lightweight crown away from Lou Ambers if they meet in an outdoor show this summer. . . . Armstrong, called the outstanding fighter produced in 1937, is a miniature edition of Joe Louis. . . . He can swat with both fists and take it with the best of them. . . . There is nothing wrong with his heart, either. . . . But he will say, if Barney Ross is in shape May 26 he will jab the little Negro silly.

Burgess Whitehead is not mending from his appendicitis operation as fast as expected. . . . Southern scribes are getting a bit annoyed with those bizarre openers they put on in the Southern Association. . . . They passed it up when Colonel Joe (Screwball) Engel of Chattanooga announced he would stage an elephant hunt on opening day with a herd of real pachyderms and a tribe of East Tennessee hill-billies disguised as African dinkas because, after all, you have come to expect such things when Mr. Engel is in charge. . . . But when staid old Nashville announced it would seek to have Sally Rand do a fan dance in the batter's box just before the opener, the scribes decided it was time to go to work. . . . Colonel Ed Danforth of the Atlanta Georgian is leading the crusade and he has plenty of help.

Congratulations to Colonel Gabby Street—From Sergeant to Colonel is quite a jump. . . . We don't believe all those yarns about Casey Stengel getting dignified. . . . A headline says "Dodgers are full of surprises." . . . Who expected anything else? . . . Waite Hoyt's piece in the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post blasting the National League, won't make it any easier in that circuit for him this year. . . . New reports are bobbing up that Don Budge may change his mind pretty soon. . . . Some of the golf pros seem to go out of their way to make it tough for Sammy Snead. . . . Hard to understand too. . . . Sammy is a likeable chap and was very popular with the galleries both at Pinehurst and Greensboro. . . . We have an idea Vic Ghezzi may fool a few of them in the masters'.

KUDZU PLANTS USED

Greensboro, N. C.—(AP)—Here is how C. B. Higgins is saving three acres of his farm from washing away:

First, he dug a 700-foot ditch to divert water that had been running in from a nearby road and washing the land into gullies. Then, he planted 2,500 two-year-old kudzu crowns and gave the plants a liberal treatment of fertilizer.

Now the kudzu vines, which make good stock feed, are 30 to 35 feet long and there is no more washing on the land.

CANZONERI SAYS ARMSTRONG HAS LOST PRESTIGE

Thinks Both Ross And Ambers Will Knock Henry Out

New York, March 31—(AP)—Tony Canzoneri, the baby-faced little fellow who held four world championships at one time or another in his fighting career, thinks both his old foes, Barney Ross and Lou Ambers, will lick Henry Armstrong this summer.

Tony made his prediction to the sound of Henry's gloves smacking on flesh last night. In the ring a few feet away Armstrong was hammering Lew Feldman, the war-worn New York lightweight. Eventually he knocked the New Yorker out in 1:55 of the fifth after dropping him for counts of nine in the first and fourth.

But Tony, getting up to go after the fight, remarked, "that still goes. They both take him."

Not Same Fighter

Even the fact that it was Feldman's first knockout in a long and active career couldn't obscure the fact that this was not the Armstrong of six months ago. A year of continuous fighting has taken its toll. Last night at the hippodrome in the non-title bout the hammer's timing was off and he seemed stale and ring-weary.

The little Negro featherweight champion donated his end of the purse to the benefit fund for the family of the late Charlie Lynch, boxing judge. About 5,000 fans saw the show, a benefit for Lynch's family.

Both knockdowns and the knock-out came as the result of single punches, three terrific lefts, the first to the body, the last two to the head.

Armstrong weighed 133 to 134 for Feldman.

EXILES FROM AUSTRIA BACK IN HOMELAND

Salzburg, Austria, March 31—(AP)—Austrian legionnaires came home today as disciplined heroes from their five-year exile in Germany.

These Austrian Nazis fled across the border in 1933 and 1934 as outlaws, tattered tramps, fugitives from the laws of Engelbert Dollfuss and Kurt Schuschnigg's independent Austria.

They returned a carefully-drilled motorized corps, neatly-uniformed as Nazi storm troopers. How many returned was an official secret, but one estimate placed 14,000 in the line that thousands of cheering, weeping home folk greeted.

They were perfectly disciplined—which tended to set at rest rumors that their return would bring vengeful action.

To relatives, their coming was the most concrete evidence of Anschluss.

They crossed the Austrian border—now stripped of customs barriers—at Rott, near here, in a chilly rainstorm. Only a handful saw the actual crossing.

Over the former boundary was the banner "The homeland greets you". The roads to Salzburg were lined by hundreds of school children, and mothers and fathers of some of the legionnaires. Now and then a child threw flowers into a lorry. Churchbells rang a welcome.

Truck after truck, each carrying 16 men with full military equipment, passed the former frontier during the morning.

From Salzburg they will be transported to their own towns for welcoming ceremonies.

Eight Favorites Battle For Semi- Final Golf Posts

Pinehurst, N. C., March 31—(AP)—Eight favored starters were primed today to battle for four semi-final berths in the 36th annual women's North and South golf tournament that to date has seen no upsets.

Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Chapel Hill, defending champion and national titlist, was bracketed against Jean Bauer, Providence, R. I., shotmaker, in one feature match and Kathryn Hemphill of Columbia, S. C., faced Virginia Guilfoyle, Syracuse, N. Y., in another.

The other quarter-final rounds saw Dorothy Kirby, Atlanta's school girl ace and holder of the women's southern crown opposing Grace Amory of New York, and Helen Dettweiler of Washington paired against Jane Cothran of Greenville, S. C., and West Palm Beach, Fla.

IN SPRING TRAINING CAMPS

Activities of Major League Teams in the South and West Prior to Opening of Baseball Season

(By The Associated Press)

Orlando, Fla.—(Emil (Dutch) Leonard is in line for a starting assignment on the Washington Senators' mound staff.

Tampa, Fla.—With Gene Schott the only hurler considered in shape, Manager Bill McKechnie of the Cincinnati Reds is worried over his staff.

New Orleans—The Cleveland Indians play their last game in New Orleans today before breaking camp tomorrow. They meet the New Orleans Pelicans.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—The New York Yankees, still minus Joe DiMaggio, break camp today and head for Tallahassee.

Los Angeles—Their respective outfields are bothering Managers Charley Grimm of the Chicago Cubs and Jimmy Dykes of the Chicago White Sox. Grimm will concentrate on Carl Reynolds, Conkdr Triplett and Jim Asbell to see who sticks as fourth outfielder. Dykes will shift Rip Radcliff, a potent batsman, to the garden in today's game with the Cubs in place of fancier-fielding Larry Rosenthal.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—Third baseman Joe Stripp, who was ordered to Columbus when he and the St. Louis Cardinals couldn't agree on terms, may wind up with the Detroit Tigers. There was talk today that the Tigers are dickering with Joe, who also has failed to sign a Columbus contract.

San Antonio, Tex.—While managers of several major league teams bemoaned epidemics of sore arms, Manager Gabby Street of the St. Louis Browns crossed his fingers, grinned and commented, "We haven't an ailment in camp."

Baton Rouge, La.—Young Jack Schroeder, the pitcher the New York Giants picked up at the Polo Grounds last summer, has a good chance to stick with one of the Giants' major farms, according to Bill Terry.

BRITAIN CAN'T ISOLATE SELF

Makes New Proposals To Get Foreigners Out Of Spain

London, March 31—(AP)—Viscount Halifax, Britain's foreign secretary, told an international audience today that "the English people have never remained and I think never can remain aloof from what is happening in Europe."

As he struck this blow at British advocates of a policy of extreme isolation, the government laid before envoys of Europe's major powers new proposals for achieving early withdrawal of foreign troops from the war in Spain.

Speaking at a luncheon of the foreign press association, attended by several foreign ambassadors and ministers, Lord Halifax said:

"They (the English people) may have their moments or moods in which they like to persuade themselves they can keep out of it, but when it comes down to hard facts I venture to assert they are too sensible to allow those moods to color their judgments.

"This nation intends to be strong and go on building up its strength x x x in order that it may make its voice powerfully heard in the councils of Europe."

Members of the nine-power chairmen's sub-committee of the nonintervention committee agreed to submit to their governments the proposals made to them today by Britain.

Informed persons said Britain proposed first, a "new formula" for deciding when belligerent rights should be granted the warring factions, second, restoration of control of Spain's frontiers.

MASS WEDDINGS PLANNED

Shanghai—(AP)—A series of mass weddings are being arranged by Chinese charity organizations to accommodate the lovers in Shanghai's refugee camps.

The weddings are to be held monthly and will require no cash outlay since the necessary Chinese wedding costume will be loaned the couples by local shops.

Contrasting strangely with his padded, denim overalls, the wedding costume for the refugee groom will include a silk gown and fedora hat.

CHICAGO KEGLER ROLLS HIGH 717 IN A. B. C. MEET

Chicago, March 31—(AP)—Every high series in the American Bowling Congress these days makes Knute Anderson's figure look bigger and bigger.

It was back on March 19 that the Moline, Ill., alley owner knocked over 746 of the 10-pins in the Coliseum. The nearest approach to that figure was made yesterday when Joe Fliger, another veteran kegger, gave Chicago its only representation on the list of leaders with a 717 count.

Fliger's almost flawless sharp-shooting only magnifies the Anderson score. Only super-bowling in the next three weeks will top it.

Two-Man Team
Richard Kriese-Sam Vanni, Buffalo, 1322.

Individuals:

Hintz Studio Modern, Complete

PHOTOGRAPHERS OF STATE MEET IN DIXON TODAY

Inspect Fine New Establishment of Well Known Dixonite

Leading photographers from throughout Illinois were assembled in Dixon today and inspected the beautiful new gallery of Charles C. Hintz, which has been declared to be one of the finest and best equipped to be found in the country. The gathering of the photographers of the state who are the guests of Mr. Hintz, marks the formal opening of his new studio and throughout the day the visitors passed through the establishment and inspected the modern equipment.

The studio represents a combination of modern ideas in studio construction and is the result of visits to several of the outstanding photographic plants of the country made by Mr. Hintz. The arrangement is for the greatest convenience of his patrons and each of the several departments is equipped with the most modern methods.

Entering the studio, which is located at 112 East First street, the visitor steps into a compact and well arranged reception room which serves for the transaction of business and at the same time provides ample space for the display of photographic supplies and accessories. Those sitting for photographs are ushered into well furnished, spacious and commodious dressing rooms where the patron may "brush up" before entering the studio proper to pose for a photograph.

Outstanding Department
This department is one of the most outstanding of the entire studio, where various lighting effects are produced when needed and every accommodation is to be found to produce the most artistic effect. The mere photographing of individuals by no means ceases the activities of the Hintz studio.

Dark rooms for developing, a complete picture framing department and many other departments are included in the modern plant. The influx of candid camera fans the past several months has necessitated the establishment of a department in which the development of amateur films is the sole activity and it is one of the busiest departments in the studio.

Another department is used almost solely for legal photography, the enlarging of legal instruments or exhibits to be used in law suits, where in the majority of instances haste and precision are required of the photographer.

The blue print department where again precision and haste are very essential has necessitated the installation of a complete set of modern equipment to care for the vast amount of this work. In this department a great number of the blue prints for bridges and other construction, carried on by the district highway department offices here, are prepared in large numbers.

Attractive Front
In providing Dixon and vicinity with a modern studio, which is the envy of photographers from all sections of the state who are visiting here today, Mr. Hintz has spared no expense. The exterior of the building is equally attractive in keeping with the interior arrangement. Insofar as is possible, the interior departments are dust proof and air conditioned throughout. The visitors in Dixon today, numbering almost a hundred, inspected the studio and its equipment and highly commended Mr. Hintz for his arrangement of all departments required in the practice of modern

Travel Tips

In far Oberammergau, in Bavaria, near the Austrian border, the Passion Play is presented once in a decade. Since 1633 each ten years has seen a presentation of this greatest and most moving of all human dramas. But Oberammergau is far away, and the sacred story is too great to be confined to the handful of people who are able to make their pilgrimage to the little village.

Some fifteen years ago, a group of citizens in Bloomington, Illinois, banded together to present to their own people the American Passion Play. Each year since then they have repeated the performance, and the fame of their production has spread; the sincerity of their portrayals has brought people back again and again.

This year, there will be ten performances during the season, each Sunday from April 3 to May 29, and one Saturday performance on May 7. The price of admission ranges from sixty-five cents in the upper balcony to $2.20 for the first rows on the main floor. The great demand for tickets makes it necessary to reserve seats as far in advance as possible.

The Associated Players, who present the Passion Play, have devoted many years to making each detail as correct as exhaustive research is able to determine. The local color of the times, the manners, habits, customs of the people and their mode of living all correctly portrayed.

While the play lasts nearly four hours, at no time will you feel like part of an audience watching individuals ape the characters they are supposed to play for their own personal glory. Instead, you lose the individuality of the players—here walks no modern man in the robes of Judas Iscariot, but Judas himself, and you are drawn into the aura of the play, and sit at the feet of Jesus, listening to his teachings.

To make it truly American, it must have the flavor of bigness which characterizes our nation's enterprises, and it is the largest stage production in the world. Nothing like it has ever been developed on such a stupendous scale. Forty of the sixty-eight scenes require the use of the entire stage.

It will be well worth your while to plan on spending a few extra hours in Bloomington if you attend the Passion Play, for at that time of year, spring will begin to bring its inimitable beauty to the many places of interest in and around the city.

The Illinois State Normal University just north of the city is the oldest in the state and one of the oldest in the country. The campus is exceptionally beautiful, and the Fell Memorial Gateway is a focal point.

The memorial fountain at Withers Library is one of Lorado Taft's beautiful works. Created from Georgia marble, it is an allegorical group known as "Children at Play." You will want to see the bronze tablet on the site where Abraham Lincoln delivered his famous "Lost Speech" during the anti-Nebraska state convention in 1856.

A good route from Dixon is U. S. No. 52 and 51. This distance is about 116 miles.

Sweden has a "silent traffic" law which prohibits the blowing of automobile horns in cities except in emergencies. Another law punishes the motorist who splashes a pedestrian.

The first law school in the United States was established at Litchfield, Conn., in 1784.

The Boxwood Barrier

By BLANCHE SMITH FERGUSON

The story so far: Judith Goodloe has the code of an old Maryland family to live up to. Reuben Oliver, who has pulled himself up by his bootstraps, has wealth and ethics of his own making. Desperately loving Judith, Reuben proposes to her when the Goodloe finances collapse. Gary Brent, the man Judith loves, has left her. So Judith becomes engaged to Reuben after making clear that she does not love him.

CHAPTER XV "Due for a Licking"

Reuben tried to prove that he was a better man than Gary in the only way he could—by showering things upon her. Each day brought wonderful gifts for Judith. Her favorite of them all, an Irish mare with foal—

"The Hunt Cup is as good as ours next year," Jim rubbed his hands in anticipation. "Won't it be great to have it under the roof once more?"

Life stretched a pleasant path for Jim's walking these days. Money—the one thing the Goodloes lacked, came so easily, so magically, just when it was needed, that they accepted it almost as a matter of course, and forgot, as far as possible, its source. Not that Jim minded remembering. He liked Reuben and said often and openly: "You're a lucky girl, Judy."

Amanda's opinion was never expressed. If between herself and Reuben there was veiled enmity, there was also a healthy, mutual respect. Amanda thawed to mellow graciousness under the glow of prosperity. There was a competent staff of servants at Goodloe's Choice now. Amos walking proudly in new livery, forgot the price of Oolong, forgot, among other things, the hole in the boxwood hedge and who made it.

Society reporters trumpeted wedding details far and wide. Judith's smiling face, Judith's fearless eyes gazed back from tearful sheets. Bridesmaids and flower girls gazed back. From a small inset in an inconspicuous corner, Reuben gazed back too. The most important wedding of the year the papers said.

Plans went forward. Judith bought clothes that were every maiden's dream. She visited Reuben's house. Made suggestions for this improvement and that. Made friends with Hugo. Praised rhododendrons—

"I'm so glad your home is here, Reuben. I wouldn't marry you if I had to leave this valley. I couldn't bear to go away."

"It's going to be heaven!" Reuben said and believed it. Never again would he hear the call of the wild, or feel the urge for adventure. For purple twilight on vast expanses of white snow. The smell of bacon cooking in the open. A lone wolf's call. The sound of cracking ice, rushing waters—roar of logs sluicing down—Noise. Shouts. Struggle—all that was behind him. Just to live here in this quiet valley with Judith, to watch her vivid face, to touch her—

The whole world took on new meaning. He felt strangely in accord with its secrets. Every blade of grass, the leaves on the trees, the water in the creek, the fleecy clouds in the sky held out a promise of what life could and would be.

June lengthened into July. July slipped into August perfumed with the ripened harvest. If the reports from his banker and broker pointed out to Reuben that he was not as wealthy as he had been, he reminded himself such fluctuations were to be expected.

Before he came to Maryland the loss of $5 would have sent him raking over the coals of his affairs like a frenzied cat. Now, lulled by the serene valley, blissful with the new element in his life, he let things drift until the serpent entered his paradise.

"Broken Down Aristocrat!" It came in the form of Clem Rogers.

Clem, fat, florid, perspiring, arrived one morning just as Reuben was sitting down to breakfast.

"Hi, Reuben, you son of a tinker! Hope you've got an extra cup of coffee in the old pot?"

"Clem! You old river rat! It's grand to see you! How are you?"

"How should I be? Clem divested himself of coat, collar, tie and flung all into a nearby chair, "I'm hungry as a pile driver."

Reuben rang for the colored boy. "Coffee, bacon—How will you have your eggs, Clem?"

"Four, sunny side up," Clem ordered, "and get a move on you." He looked critically around the dining room with its heavy oak beams. "Cissy says this is supposed to be some dug-out—I dunno!" doubtfully.

"Suits me," Reuben said. "Old ruins usually prove expensive. Cheaper to tear down and build up new."

Reuben did not argue this point. "How's Cissy?"

"Mad as a March hare. Flying like an eagle and spending money faster than a horse can trot."

He pushed back his bushy gray hair and looked at his host from eyes not unlike his daughter's. "So you're getting married?"

"In 27 days."

"Humph! To a broken down aristocrat?"

"To the only woman I ever wanted to marry."

"Humph!" Clem reached for his coat, took out a well seasoned pipe, looked at it speculatively. "Love can play havoc with a fellow. Better be sure as shooting before you leap."

"I'm sure."

"How do you know you are?" Clem hitched his chair closer. "It's none of my business and I wish you luck, but I'm giving some advice too."

"Go ahead."

"I'm a fool to do it," sagely, "but I've seen quite a few lads, who made a couple of fly-by-night millions, come East, break their banks and their hearts over a woman."

"I won't do that, Clem."

"The heck you won't! You're different already."

"How?" surprised.

"Dunno—exactly. You were so cocky as all out o'doors back home."

Reuben smiled. "I was younger."

But he sensed a vague truth in Clem's criticism. Judith's mild ridicule the day he fell from his horse, Amanda's barber thrusts, the feeling that they were merely tolerant of him, had undoubtedly made him less sure of himself. He went forward slowly now like one whose sight is not quite true.

Clem's breakfast arrived. He was noisily busy for several minutes. After he poured a second cup of coffee he said "You're wondering what brought me?"

Reuben nodded. There were few words wasted between these two.

"Unless you come West as quick and as straight as the crow flies—it's bad news, Reuben! I hate like the dickens to tell you!"

"Shoot!" lighting a cigarette.

"The Little Justice is going dry on us."

"The Devil to Pay"

Reuben held the match in his fingers until it burned them. "It couldn't be. That pocket goes through to China."

"I was sure of it when I advised you to sink your money in it."

"There's something wrong with the drills," Reuben said evenly but fear clutched him like a giant hand.

"I had every pump and drill overhauled when the output started to fall off," Clem lighted his old, strong pipe. "They're right as trivets."

"They're wrong if the oil won't flow. I'm flying back with you."

"Get your coat."

Reuben walked to the door. "Give me an hour."

"Going to see your sweetie?" Clem hazarded.

"Um-m."

"I'd like to give her the once over myself."

"I'm proud to show her."

"Better tell the truth," Clem advised when they were in Reuben's roadster on the way to Goodloe's Choice, "and instead of having a lot of frills, better marry her today and take her back to Warden."

"Take—Judith—to Warden?"

"Why not? If," grimly, "she's the girl for you, she'll go."

"I'm afraid you, she'll not understand, Clem."

"The heck I don't! You're afraid to tell her!" he taunted.

"I'm not."

"Then put your cards on the table."

Brain Twizzlers

By
PROF. J. D. FLINT

A harmlessly but hopelessly crazy man invented a machine which, strangely enough, had a very practical purpose. As a result he derived a handsome income because his brother managed royalties on a business-like and honest basis. One day an income tax investigator came around to see about a very strangely complicated report which had been filed by the inventor. He was unable to get much intelligible information from the crazy man but at last he boiled down the main issue to finding out the amount of a particular exemption which the inventor claimed. Here is the only data he had to work with:

"The number has five digits and none of them is zero. The first one plus the second equals the third. The first one multiplied by four equals the fourth digit. The fourth digit minus the second digit equals the fifth digit. Twice the third digit plus the second equals the fifth. Twice the second digit equals the first digit."

What was the amount of the exemption claimed?

table. If this girl is marrying you for money—and I'm betting my trousers she is—there's going to be the devil to pay—sooner or later—if you're ever without it! Yes, son, when she finds out you ain't got it!"

"Who says I haven't?"

"I do!"

"I've never," arrogantly, "had to take a licking yet."

"You'll take a whale of a one if you run with this herd much longer. Might as well face facts, Rube. You're due to take a fearful financial licking and another kind of one too, if you don't watch out. You've either got to make an Oliver of her or she'll make a—what's her name—Goodloe, a darn poor imitation of one, out of you."

Reuben said nothing. He stepped on the gas.

"If you pull out of here I'll help you start over," Clem offered generously, "If you hang on—"

Like a gong sounding faintly against Reuben's consciousness came the echo of Judith's words—"I wouldn't marry you—if I had to leave this valley—"

"I'm hanging on."

"Hang on and be darned! It's your funeral!" Clem emptied his pipe, knocked it savagely against the car's window. "What will you bet the girl won't hang on when I tell her?"

"I'll bet—" Reuben's lips faltered. Closed. He felt winded as though from a blow in the solar plexus.

"Afraid?" Clem taunted.

"Afraid?"

THERA-THERM EQUIPMENT AT LORENE SHOP

THERA-THERM infra-red ray baths, the most luxurious method devised for recontouring, slenderizing and moulding the human body have been installed by Lorene's Beauty Service and the equipment represents the most modern of its kind in northern Illinois outside of Chicago.

The bath is a scientifically developed method of conveying electrical heat to the human body. The object is to mold or sculpture the human form and includes a combination of circulation, stimulation and scientific manipulation.

Through controlled infra-red heat rays and sectionized units, the method reaches the parts needing attention and literally sculpts away superfluous flesh. The method not only works destructively on fat or fleshy substances but constructively where additional flesh is desired. In such cases, the method utilizes the basic principle of bringing blood to those parts needing a renewal of circulation.

THERA-THERM cream is applied to the client and the patient is heated with penetrating invisible infrared rays under the THERA-THERM heating hood while lying on electro-mineral pads which cover the massage table. Heat which comes to the under part of the body must pass through mineral salts. The body warms, perspires, but cooling that would ordinarily follow through evaporation of perspiration is retarded by THERA-THERM cream. The body metabolism is increased, slightly, naturally, but yet enough to burn up the superficial fatty tissues.

THERA-THERM is absolutely safe, authorities agree, as it is built on exactly the same principle as the equipment which manufacturers have installed in leading hospitals and sanitariums where it is used for application of heat to the body for circulatory disorders and for creating artificial fever. It does not involve any rigid diet or exercises. It is considered the most luxurious, healthful and relaxing means in existence for reducing.

T. B. ASSOCIATION
PLANS CONVENTION
IN BLOOMINGTON

The annual meeting of the Illinois Tuberculosis Association will convene in Bloomington on April 18, according to a statement received from the association headquarters today.

Pulmonary disease in industry will be the theme of the medical session Tuesday afternoon April 19. Papers on silicosis, accidents, early diagnosis among industrial workers, and the medico-legal aspects of pulmonary diseases in industry will be featured. The legal regulations governing sanatorium boards will be explained at this session.

Because rehabilitation of discharged sanatorium patients is said to be increasingly important, the principal discussions Tuesday morning will deal with that subject. On Monday morning the annual business meeting of the Illinois Tuberculosis Association will be held, followed at noon by the Board of Directors meeting and election of officers.

Monday afternoon will be devoted to papers dealing with the finding of early cases, tuberculin testing and X-ray demonstrations as conducted by a voluntary association, tuberculosis programs for rural counties with small budgets, education programs and proper administration of county tuberculosis associations.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

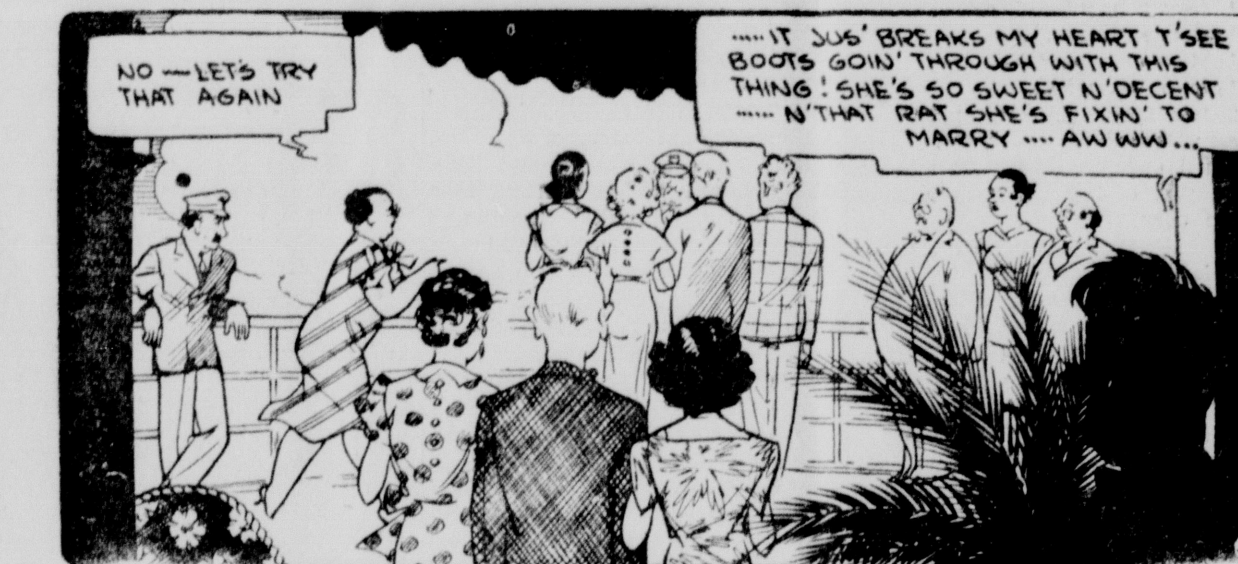

A SPECIMEN of the giant turtle that once swam the Kansas seas may be seen at the Peabody Museum, at Yale University. It far exceeds in size any turtle living today. The creature probably became extinct when larger and more voracious animals developed in the ancient seas.

BRIDGES WOULD LIKE TO BE ONE OF TVA PROBERS
 Washington, March 31—(AP)—Vice-President Garner and Speaker Bankhead kept their own counsel today on their selections for membership on the congressional committee investigating the Tennessee Valley Authority.

The House yesterday adopted a Senate-approved resolution providing for the inquiry. It tackled on a number of minor changes, which Democratic Leader Barkley would determine whether the investigation was to be "a whitewash, a farce or a real investigation," has indicated he would like to be one of the five senators to serve. Others conspicuous in the debate climaxed by the ouster of Chairman Arthur Morgan of the TVA have eliminated themselves.

The House defeated a proposal by Rep. Bollau (Prog-Wis) to require a report from the investigating committee by June 1 on the qualifications of the three men who have administered TVA for the last five years.

Arthur Morgan was removed by President Roosevelt for refusing to give him evidence to support charges against the other TVA directors, H. A. Morgan and David Lilienthal.

Before approving the resolution, the House beat down a Republican attempt to prevent investigation of private power companies along with the TVA to determine whether they had hampered the agency's program.

A special session of congress will take up the oil question April 11. It was ascertained that before then at least 10 senators were preparing to ask the president how Mexico would find foreign markets for the oil; what would the government do about the mining industry, likely to be hard hit by United States suspension of silver purchases and a drop in the world price; and how would Mexico pay for the oil properties.

Mexico City, March 21—(AP)—A new "party of the revolution" came into being today to carry on the nation's Mexico for Mexicans program, looking toward a society without classes in a socialist state.

The new party of laborers, farmers and soldiers is an intensified government party, taking over the organization of President Cardenas' former national revolutionary party. Barba Gonzalez, head of the old party, was named president of the new.

Its proposed platform, presented in convention last night, carries a call for "progressive nationalization of big industry" (like expropriation of the $400,000,000 foreign-owned oil industry).

The taking over of the oil industry from 17 American, British, and Netherlands owners brought vigorous United States representations asking how Mexico would pay the indemnity, and today there were indications of a possible split in Cardenas' hitherto solid congressional support.

Sam tried it and found a thriving business with more than 30 laboratories. He gets his specimens from the Chicago stock yards, pickles them in alcohol and ships C. O. D.

STALEMATE IN CHINESE FIGHT STILL UNBROKEN
 Shanghai, March 31—(AP)—Hand-to-hand fighting raged in the streets of Tientsin today as the 17-day battle between Japanese and Chinese along the Tientsin-Pukow railway went on without decisive result.

Tientsin, located on a narrow gauge branch railway east of the main line, was in flames.

Meanwhile, a new Japanese threat at the vital east-west Lunghai railway corridor was directed from the south in hitherto unscathed North Kiangsu province.

Foreign military observers said a strong Japanese column had advanced more than 80 miles from Nantunghow, on the Yangtze river north of Shanghai, since March 17, and was moving against Lunghai, 100 miles south of the Lunghai.

The observers considered the maneuver important as it offered a threat to crush Chinese defenders at the Grand Canal between the column moving up from Nantunghow and the southbound Japanese forces locked in a stalemate along the Tientsin-Pukow railway.

PARASITES HELP YOUTH
 Chicago—(AP)—Parasites and pig embryos are helping Sam Salkin, 18, through school.

Sam's hobby was collecting and preserving snakes, toads, frogs and turtles until a friend told him he should include embryos and parasites because biological laboratories throughout the country would buy them.

Sam tried it and found a thriving business with more than 30 laboratories. He gets his specimens from the Chicago stock yards, pickles them in alcohol and ships C. O. D.

WOULD CHANGE COLLEGE, HIGH SCHOOL SONGS

Thinks Present Ones Try To Condense, Reverence, Pep

St. Louis, March 31—(AP)—If A. R. McAllister of Joliet, Ill., could have his way, most of the present American college and high school songs would be discarded.

McAllister, president of the national school band association, said today the majority of airs deserved all the criticism and censure they get—because they are "unfortunate attempts to get reverence and pep in a single melody."

"The songs on the football field should have pep," he asserted. "An alma mater should have sentiment—reverence wouldn't be too strong a word. You can't work the two features into one song. An old classical tune has merits as an alma mater because it usually is genuine music. A football tune can and should be original."

Alumni Opposed
 The veteran band director said he believed American colleges and schools had faculty members and students who could turn out appropriate songs. He declared pep songs written in the 1880's should be discarded for new music written in 1938.

"But they won't do it. When you start that you are treading on the toes of the boys who sang the old songs behind a Stein in the 1880's and they won't stand for it."

Louis Woodson Curtis, director of music in the Los Angeles public schools, was elected president of the music educators national conference yesterday.

McAllister was chosen a member of the board of directors for a four-year term.

REBEL FORCES PRESS FORWARD TOWARD COAST
 Hendaye, France, at the Spanish Frontier, March 31—(AP)—Insurgent Generalissimo Franco today aimed twin thrusts toward the Mediterranean and deadly severance of government Spain.

The central army worked its way through the suburbs of Lerida, ancient city and fortress, 80 miles from Barcelona and but 45 miles from the coastal city of Tarragona. The right wing, 42 miles to the south, menaced Gandesa, an outpost also on the road to Tarragona. This force already had crossed the Algas river, five miles west of Gandesa, and was slightly closer to the coast than the army investing Lerida.

Insurgents were attempting to surround and isolate the government garrison in Lerida, the castle that defends the Segre river valley, which has been described as the "gateway" to Barcelona.

The city virtually was deserted by civilians. The defenders had blown up electric plants inside the walls, and yesterday a smoke pall lay about it.

The government blew up a huge dam and opened floodgates in the Cinca river valley, temporarily flooding insurgent bridges thrown up in the advance. Two international brigades, including American volunteers, were reported brought from Madrid and other sectors to stem the advance upon the historic city.

But despite these desperate measures of resistance, the insurgent advance rolled on.

Insurgents predicted the quick fall of Lerida.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

SERVING OTHER RACES

Text: Mark 7:24-37
By Wm. E. Gilroy, D. D.
Editor of Advance

Racial and religious prejudices are very deep in human life and of one thing we can be perfectly sure: a lesson from the New Testament that deals with some matter of racial or religious prejudice in the little land of Palestine more than 1900 years ago will be full of import for this modern world and even for democratic America, where all men are supposed to be free and equal, where freedom of religion is established, and where there would be no racial prejudice if all men lived up to the Constitution and its ideals.

Here in our lesson, a Grecian woman, who was a Syrophenician by race and who had seen the wonderful things that Jesus had done, besought Him that He would heal her daughter who had "an unclean spirit," or as we would say, was mentally defective.

The reply of Jesus to the woman seemed very strange, and if we read it merely in the strict sense as it is recorded, we would feel bound to say that it seemed almost brutal in its lack of sympathy. Jesus said to her, "Let the children first be filled; for it is not meet to take the children's bread and cast it to the dogs."

mony with the gentleness of Jesus and with the loving kindness that was so essential in all His example and teaching, that we can only think of something in the manner or look of the Master that belied the harshness of His words. He may have used such words just as any one of us might use words of imagined severity, in a teasing way, to a child.

He may have been using these words to put in language the thoughts of those less gentle, who were standing round about and watching Him to see what He would do; and the woman may have understood well what Jesus was doing.

It would seem so, because instead of being rebuffed or taking offense, the woman replied to Jesus in much the same tantalizing way, "Yea, Lord; even the dogs under the table eat of the children's crumbs."

The woman conquered and her child was healed. This was the real expression of the Christ, and it would be folly to interpret the seemingly harsh words of Jesus except in the light of what Jesus actually did in healing the woman's child.

The other part of our lesson has to do with the healing of one who was deaf and partially dumb. Here we have a miracle symbolic of the spiritual work of Christ in enabling us to hear and speak the words of life.

But the teaching of the lesson that applies most closely to our racial difference and problems. Nothing is plainer in the New Testament, or in the whole history of the Christian church, than that the grace of God is not limited to color or race, or even to differences of outward faith.

Men of all colors and of all creeds have experienced the grace of God. It has brought to light in their lives all those gracious things that are the fruit of the spirit. Will a day come when we can learn to value men according to these things and not according to racial or other differences?
